MicroWorld Products, Updates Now on Edge Platform

By ChannelTimes Staff

Mumbai, Jun 02, 2009 1219 hrs IST

MicroWorld, a security solution provider, has announced that MicroWorld products and updates are now available through some of the fastest servers in the world. The vendor has switched both its servers; update as well as download servers to servers with Edge platform.

According to MicroWorld, it will boost the availability of products and updates availability to 40000 servers worldwide, enabling its download speed faster than before. MicroWorld is also offering its website visitors an optional light weight download manager for all downloads from their website.

These servers can detect user locations, connection speeds, browser types and other types of information for each and every content request. This helps determining the most suitable server to deliver the content with the best routes and react quickly to sudden Internet outages and failures.

Govind Rammurthy, CEO & Managing Director, MicroWorld, said "MicroWorld has always been keen in offering the best services to its customers. We are glad to have Edge servers as a part of our security products enabling faster updates for our customers."

"With the launch of eScan 10, we witnessed more than 300 percent demand for our products and updates. We understand how important it is for customers to have eScan and MailScan solutions current with our security updates and so to ensure that our customers are totally secure, we have chosen the best platform available," said Sunil Kripalani, Vice-President, International Sales and Marketing, MicroWorld.
