MicroWorld, recently announced the release of its eScan 10 antivirus software. It is an antivirus content security and firewall software.

Specifically designed to offer users with better security, the antivirus has been built with lots of proactive technologies and advanced algorithms.

The antivirus comes with a new simplified GUI, which permits even those not familiar with technology to operate the application without any difficulty. The software provides multi-level security with advanced configuration controls for tech savvy users.

Awarded the VB100% certificate recently by Virus Bulletin at a pre-release test, the antivirus software provides comprehensive protection against Viruses, Worms, Trojans, Spyware together with other security threats.

Moreover, the software also provides protection from threats infecting via email, web download, chatting through its speedy and heuristic scanning ability.

eScan 10 also has an inbuilt Advanced Firewall that prevents systems from network based attacks.

Mr. Govind Rammurthy, CEO and Managing Director, MicroWorld stated, "The eScan 10 is equipped to deal with all possible risks and thereby add great value to the field of information security. We will continue to provide our customers with advanced solution and protect them against all kinds of existing and emerging security threats."

MicroWorld has partnered for half a million euro deal in Germany. In Mexico, the company has signed up an agreement worth half-a-million dollar deal with Snap IN Data and it has also partnered with LFRs in United States.

Besides all this, the company will also be making available their products in South Africa, Paraguay, Malaysia and Tunisia via official tie-ups.

The product is available in three different versions for home users, SMBs and the enterprise market. The home user version is priced at Rs 1,000.
