eScan is the new Microsoft gold certified partner

eScan has announced that it is now a Microsoft gold certified partner. As per the company, it has earned the gold certificate in Microsoft's partner programme in recognition of its expertise, strategic role and impact on the security industry.

Govind Rammurthy

As Microsoft gold certified partner, eScan has demonstrated its expertise with Microsoft technologies and proven its ability to satisfy the needs of its customers. The company has also won several acclaimed awards and certifications by Microsoft. Some key contributors to this certification were certification of eScan in Vista, Windows 7 and many Microsoft certified professionals as part of their team.

Microsoft gold certified partners are the elite Microsoft business partners who earn the highest customer endorsement. They have the knowledge, skills, and commitment to help implement technology solutions that match exact business needs. Gold certified partners represent the highest level of competence and expertise with Microsoft technologies, and have the closest working relationship with Microsoft.

"First, we would like to thank our customers, who have endorsed us for this certification. Getting the highest level of certification from Microsoft reiterates our determination and capabilities in providing good security solutions to our customers. This partnership will help us in delivering faster solutions for upcoming Microsoft technologies too," explained Govind Rammurthy, CEO and Managing Director, eScan.

Rohini Sonawane, Chief Operating Officer of eScan, who played an instrumental role in obtaining the certification added, "These certifications drive us to develop innovative technologies that can help our customers secure their desktops and networks in this ever-expanding threat scenario. Being a part of the select gold circle makes us proud of our accomplishment and we are looking forward to accomplishing many more certifications."
