MicroWorld, a provider of information security solutions, has launched a new version of MailScan range of antiVirus, antiSpam and content security solution for Mail Servers - MailScan 6.1. The MailScan 6.1 precedes its earlier versions with a collection of new and advanced features.

Employing an array of intelligent filters and equipped with the NILP technology, MailScan 6.1 offers powerful protection against virus, spam and phishing mails along with comprehensive content security, the company said.

The NILP technology based on Artificial Intelligence (AI) analyzes emails based on the behavioral pattern of the user to prevent spam. The new MailScan 6.1 also has an upgraded AntiVirus scan engine that is equipped with advanced heuristic scanner that scans both incoming and outgoing emails, effectively blocking Malware at the MailServer before they reach the inbox of the recipients. MailScan 6.1 also provides real time information to the system administrators about Virus Outbreak Alerts and spam alerts.

As per the company claims, MailScan 6.1 is the world's fastest and earliest updating antivirus system that detects viruses, worms, Trojans, backdoors, rootkits, spywares, adwares, bots, porn dialers, Trojan Clickers and all other kinds of malicious programs at the Mail Server.

Govind Rammurthy, CEO & Managing Director, MicroWorld, said, "Given the market conditions, one is vulnerable to internal as well as external threats. MailScan 6.1 provides superlative protection against virus, spam and phishing mails along with comprehensive content security. The unique two-way scanning function of this latest version provides the system with real-time protection with its advanced heuristic scanner, thus proving to be a great boon to novice as well as the masters in technology."

Sunil Kripalani, Vice President (Global Sales & Marketing), said "With the increase in viruses, worms, Trojans, etc., a comprehensive mail scanner is the need of the hour. With the launch of our latest product MailScan 6.1 we strive to make businesses safer and systems more prudent and intelligent."
